

School Building Project is On Schedule

It was a year ago that the Avenue City School District was decorated with red and white signs reading "Vote Yes for School." Ten months later and we are approaching completion of the 2 million dollar project our patrons approved last year. In addition to the new entryway, kitchen and cafeteria that are the most visible parts of the project, we are renovating the old spaces to provide additional classroom space, a conference room as well as renovating the original restrooms from the mid-1950s. Additionally, the local school board has approved a side project that we had hoped we would be able to afford. That project will remove all of the asbestos from the building. As you know, this material was highly used in the 1950s because of its fire resistant characteristics. After the week of June 26th, all of that material will be out of the Avenue City School. While the material posed no danger to anyone, it is nice to be able to say the building is free of asbestos as of the summer of 2015. We will call this an "added bonus" to the construction project of 2015.

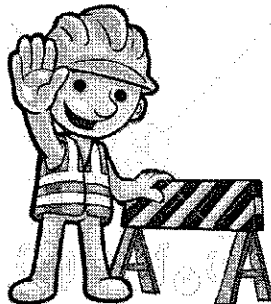

I suspect that our new entry way will be most impressive to our patrons as well as the new areas that we have constructed since January of this year. The security provided by the new entryway will no doubt be a good thing for our children. For parents and patrons however, it means an extra doorway and checkpoint prior to being allowed into the building. Several tragic events have occurred this summer which reassure us that providing this additional layer of protection was indeed the right thing to do.

It seems hard to imagine that this project has been so blessed with the small things that have created such a window of opportunity for us. Our project missed a major delay from a snow storm by being able to pour our footings approximately 48 hours prior to its arrival last winter. Our project also avoided being bogged down in the spring mud because we were able to get the structure enclosed prior to all of the rain arriving this spring. Indeed we have been fortunate and all things point to this project being completed prior to the beginning of school in August.

On behalf of the children and staff of the Avenue City R-IX School District, I wish to once again say thank you for providing all that you have for us. You and your support of this small, but growing, school district are our greatest blessings.

Sincerely,

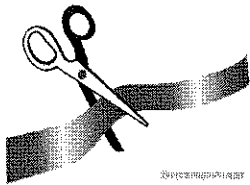

Don Lawrence

Back to School Night and Ribbon Cutting Ceremony

The Avenue City School Board of Education will be hosting a Ribbon Cutting Ceremony to welcome patrons, parents, community members, and staff members to the new addition of the school Monday, August 17, 2015 at 6:00 PM.

The Ribbon Cutting Ceremony will be held at the new entrance of the school (southwest corner of the parking lot). The Board of Education is anxious and proud to show the expansion and the improvements that have been made to the facilities. All patrons, parents, community members, students, alumni, and staff are welcome to attend.

A Back to School Open House will immediately follow. This will give students and parents a chance to meet teachers and drop off school supplies in the classroom.

ACES to use New Communication System - Dewsly

Dear Parents and Guardians,

I'm excited to let you know that Avenue City R-IX has switched over to a new communication platform called Dewsly.

Dewsly is an online and mobile communication platform, accessible through dewsly.com or mobile apps for iOS and Android. Using Dewsly, you pick the class and activity updates you'd like to receive and specify how you'd like to receive them. You are given the choice of an email, phone call, text message, direct twitter message, or mobile notification through the app. This way, you only receive the information that is relevant to you.

You soon will receive an invitation to join Dewsly. When you receive the email, follow the instructions provided. Complete your profile and communication preferences. Be sure to pay close attention to these, as they'll determine how you receive updates from me!

Your account is set up so that you're automatically following your student's classes. In addition to these, you can easily search for other activities your student is involved in and follow those groups, as well. You'll then begin receiving updates and always know what's going on!

If you have any questions or don't receive an invitation by 8/1/2015, please contact support@dewsly.com.

Thank you,

Mrs. Becky Grimes Principal

Aces Book Club News!

This has been an exciting 2014-2015 school year for the book club. We are now two book clubs. After the students completed an online survey at the end of last year, we decided to split the book club into a junior high group and upper elementary group. Our membership more than doubled this year and we couldn't be more pleased!

Each book club meets once a month with very different formats. The junior high group is more like a traditional book club. The students bring book ideas to share with the group and we decide on about three choices for them to choose from. The books are usually ones that can be used within the classroom for book reports and helps the students better understand the story after discussing it with others. The upper elementary is geared more towards learning about all the book types and topics, participating in activities around the lesson for the meeting, and reading books with each other during that time.

Finally, both groups attended the Children's Literacy Festival in Warrensburg, in March. This is an opportunity for the students to visit directly with some of their favorite authors and to learn how they develop their books from start to finish. We even learn more about the writing process and pointers for getting started. Some of these authors are from right here in Missouri.

Periodically, the school district must dispose of equipment. Board policy dictates that the district disposes of district equipment by a) attempting to sell it b) donating it or c) discard it, if the other methods fail to separate the property from the district. The following items are available for sale from the district. If you are interested in these items, you would need to submit a sealed bid to the district offices between 9:00 and 2:00 on or before July 8, 2015. The bid needs to include what exact item you are bidding on, your name, your contact phone number, and the dollar amount for each item you would like to purchase. The outside of your envelope needs to have the following written on it.

“Attention Janice Pankau – Purged Items Bid.” Winning bidders will be contacted within 7 days of the closing date for bids. Items must be removed on or before July 16, 2015. The following items are available for sale:

Bus Routes 2015-16

Additional enrollment has not only caused a need for additional space at school but the additional enrollment has also increased ride times for students on our bus routes. Some students have been asked to ride over one hour each way to school. It is our hope to decrease ride times for those families. In order for that to happen, alterations in bus routes will be occurring in 2015-16. In order to equalize ride times for students, 2015-16 drop off and pick up times will be altered from that of 2014-15. While some students will have ride times decreased in the afternoon or morning, others may be increased in order to equalize the ride time for all families.

While we hope to make each family happy, it is our goal to work together to minimize the impact on any one set of neighbors. Someone once said, "No man is an island." This is true with bus routing as well as we cannot set bus times and routes based upon individual needs; as one person's needs may be in direct conflict with his/her neighbors. We must do what we feel is best for our students and families as a whole.

We hope to have bus drop off and pick up times posted on our website just prior to the beginning of the school year. These posted times will be estimates. Both the school and your neighbors appreciate your cooperation as we begin this new effort.

HANDWRITING

Does Handwriting Matter? Yes it does!

Parents, educational professionals, and students have asked many times why we continue to teach handwriting. The Common Core standards call for teaching legible writing, but only in kindergarten and first grade. After that, the emphasis quickly shifts to proficiency on the keyboard. Handwriting is being dropped from the taught curriculum in many public school districts. Not at Avenue City – we continue to teach the skill of handwriting in addition to keyboarding.

Why do Avenue City teachers continue to teach manuscript and cursive handwriting even though the Common Core standards do not emphasize it?

- Evidence suggests that there are links between handwriting and broad education development.
- Children learn to read more quickly when they first learn to write by hand. They also remain better at generating ideas and retaining information. Scientists suggest that writing by hand creates a unique recognition in the child's brain and learning is made easier.
- Scientific tests and brain scans have shown that when children draw a letter freehand, they exhibit increased activity in three different areas of the brain. By contrast, children who typed the letter showed weaker brain activity in the same areas.
- The actual effort of planning for and creating a letter engages the brain's motor pathways and delivers a benefit for the child. Even when a child produces a messy letter, they still learn from that.
- Printing, cursive writing, and typing on a keyboard are all associated with distinct and separate brain patterns.
- When a child composes text by hand, they not only consistently produce more words more quickly than they can on a keyboard, but they express more ideas.
- When children are asked to come up with ideas for a composition, the ones with better handwriting exhibited greater brain activation that is associated with working memory.
- In real-world classrooms, students learn better, when they take notes by hand than when they type on a keyboard. Research suggest that writing by hand allows the child to comprehend what the teacher is saying and then reframe it – this is a higher level of thinking, learning, and reflection and leads to a better understanding of the material.

So why do Avenue City teachers continue to teach handwriting? Because we believe that the act of handwriting makes the students focus on what is important – we believe it makes the students think better! So does handwriting matter? Yes it does – because teaching smart kids to be smarter matters!
