3rd Grade News

Hello, parents!

What beautiful fall colors the leaves are turning! Here is a look at what we will be doing next week in the third grade classroom:

Reading: Our class will begin reading The Chalkbox Kid. It is a short chapter book that we will spend the next few weeks working with. We will be working with visualizing and character traits this week.

Math: We are practicing a lot at school, but students still need to be practicing at home as well! We will be spending extra time practicing 6s, 7s, and 8s this week.

Social Studies: We will finish up Unit 2 on Monday. They will be testing on Thursday. We will begin Unit 3 which introduces The Civil War.

Science: We will be learning more about species this week in science. We will be investigating variation of species and discussing traits. We will also gather data and begin learning about scientific explanations.

English: Our class will continue learning about common and proper nouns. We will also begin learning about singular and plural nouns later in the week.
