Weather Preparedness

As the weather is becoming colder, please make sure your child has a heavy coat with a head covering and gloves or mittens. A hoodie may not be heavy enough on some of these morning recesses.

Thank you!

Reading – We will continue learning 'heartwords' this week. Heartwords are words that we must learn by heart. This week's words are I, is, and am. Practice throughout the week at home.

We are starting to read CVC words and they are catching on quickly! Allow your child to find and read words they know in books at home.

Our theme this week will be veterans. We will make inferences and identify nonfiction text features.

Handwriting – We will learn lowercase letters d, g, and u this week. We are focusing more on making sure 'tall' letters look taller than the 'short' letters when writing words.

Math – This week we will measure and compare lengths with nonstandard measurement. We will also use the terms more than, less than, and equal to compare sets of objects.

Grammar – We will continue learning about the subject of a sentence.

Science – We will learn about how the water cycle works.

Veteran's Day - In honor of Veteran's Day on Friday, please have your child wear their red, white, and blue clothing!

If you ever have any questions, comments, or concerns, please feel free to contact me at school or email me at asvendsen@avenuecityschool.org.

Have a wonderful weekend!
