

Mrs. Svendsen's Kindergarten News

Reading – We will review the heartwords we've learned so far. We will continue blending sounds together to read words and identify our heartwords in text. These kiddos are so excited to start reading!

Our theme this week will be Thanksgiving. We will identify story elements and sequence events in our stories.

Math – We will review ordering numbers and comparing numbers with some turkey themed activities.

All School Skate Party – Don't forget to complete the link for your child's skate size and request as soon as possible. We will spend the morning skating on Wednesday. Your child may bring money for snacks, if they wish. Please make sure they wear taller socks so that their skates do not rub.

Friendship Feast – We will discuss what we are thankful for in preparation for Thanksgiving, as well as host our Friendship Feast with 1st grade. Thank you for all the donations! It's going to be a fun afternoon!

Progress Reports – Can you believe we are half way through second quarter already? Progress reports were sent home last Thursday. Please reach out to me if you have any additional questions, concerns, or feedback. This class is doing an awesome job progressing! We will take off learning to read independently in January. I am so proud of each of these kiddos!
