

Mrs. Svendsen's Kindergarten News

Reading – We will stretch and blend sounds in words this week. We will learn the sounds for letters V, P, and F. Our story this week will be Huggapotamus and we will identify characters and make connections to the text.

Grammar – We will continue learning about nouns this week. Nouns name people, places, and things.

Writing – We will start getting familiar with writing our first and last names.

Math – We will learn all about the numbers 1 and 2 and how to represent them in different ways.

Science – We will continue to learn about living and nonliving things.

Handwriting - When helping your child practice writing, please remind them that capital letters should only be used at the beginning of a name with the rest of the letters being lowercase. I expect mastery of the first name by the end of September. Please practice at home with a pencil. This week, we will learn to write the letters D, P, B, and R.

Pop Tabs – Our class will be collecting the tabs from aluminium cans. Please send in any you may have collected at any time. These will be used to raise funds for the Ronald McDonald House.

Behavior

We are all getting into the swing of kindergarten. This coming week, we will really be focusing on using watching eyes, listening ears, and calm bodies as we continue to learn. Ask your child how their day went and if they are doing well with these expectations.

If you ever have any questions, comments, or concerns, please feel free to contact me at school or email me at asvendsen@avenuecityschool.org.
Have a wonderful weekend!
